rado on Political Problems. PUEBLO, Col., September 29.-The tariff question, the Mexican situation and economic and political problems growing out of the European war and their relation to the United States were among the subjects discussed by Charles Warren Fairbanks, republican vice presidential nominee, in an address here last night.

This country, he said, is passing through one of the greatest epochs in history, unfortunately with amateur statesmen at the helm of the ship of state.

At Colorado Springs Mr. Fairbanks received a delegation of members of the national women's party. In response to a request for his attitude upon the Susan B. Anthony amendment he told Mrs. Jessie Mackaye of Washington, D. C., who headed the suffragist party, that he stood firmly with Charles E. Hughes upon the question. Both here and at Colorado Springs his addresses were punctuated with cheers.
